

UN Climate Change High-Level Champions | Climate Week NYC Programme

The UN Climate Change High-Level Champions are thrilled to participate in Climate Week New York City, joining a global community of businesses, investors, local governments, Indigenous Peoples and community leaders, to highlight the extensive climate actions underway worldwide. Join us and our many partners to share progress and insights, and for meaningful discussions on priorities and plans to further collaboration and action as we work to accelerate the just transition away from fossil fuels, protect and restore nature, and increase climate finance where it is needed most.
